

The Lincoln Memorial

People built the Lincoln Memorial so it would remind us of Honest Abe. There's a statue of Honest Abe that's 19 feet tall.

Capitol Building

The Capitol Building is a great place for meetings. Nineteen thousand people work at the Capitol Building.

The Supreme Court

The Supreme Court looks like a Greek temple. The Supreme Court Building was finished in 1935.

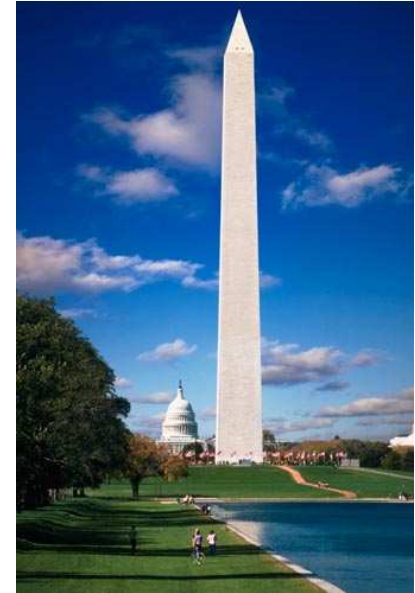

The Jefferson Memorial

The Jefferson Memorial was built for exactly the same reason as the Lincoln Memorial was built for, to honor a president. It was built to honor our third president, President Jefferson.

The Washington Monument

One part of the monument is a different color from the other because:

One time people built the W.M then after a while they stopped for a long time. Then they started it again except with a different color of material.
